About this overview. This document is an example of how the course might be taught. This page is drawn from the Florida course description rather than a built Optima course, so the specific units, readings, and activities scholars see will be set by the teacher and may vary between the live school and On-Demand. Each teacher also leans into their own strengths and passions; the structure, expectations, and time commitment below are representative of the course as designed.

Spanish 3 Honors brings the skills of Spanish 1 and 2 to mastery and expands them. Vocabulary and conversational range grow through discussion of selected readings, with contemporary vocabulary drawn from the everyday life of the Spanish-speaking world. As an honors course it carries genuine rigor: more complex authentic texts, deeper analysis, and tasks that ask scholars to justify, persuade, and present. Scholars work in the Intermediate High to Advanced Low range — sustaining real conversations, following authentic media, and writing organized essays in Spanish.

THE YEAR AT A GLANCE

1 Listening (Interm. High–Adv. Low)

Extended speech and presentations on familiar and unfamiliar topics; authentic TV, radio, podcasts, and video.

3 Conversation (Interm. High–Adv. Low)

Sustained discussion with moderate fluency, defending points of view, persuading, and handling complex situations.

5 Writing (Interm. High–Adv. Low)

Well-organized essays, summaries, and reports — some personally researched from authentic texts — plus practical documents and idiomatic expression.

2 Reading (Interm. High–Adv. Low)

Literary and non-literary texts from culturally authentic sources; inference and prediction from written sources.

4 Presenting (Interm. High–Adv. Low)

Presentations with clarity and detail using multimedia; explaining viewpoints with advantages and disadvantages; control of different time frames.

6 Culture and Connections (all year)

Comparing practices and perspectives across Spanish-speaking cultures to dispel stereotypes; the language's value in a global society.
